On the o'lfully resisted the attempts in the various Stat school, from Adam Smith to McCulloch, maintain that money ought to be unrestricted, yet, with the exception of California, no State in this Union (where free-trade theories generally prevail) has been brought to act on this principle. these doctors of finance. True it is that several of these States have at different times made trial of these States have at different times made trial of the system commended by the free-trale philosophers, but in every case they have been swift to restore restriction, with even increase; a tringency. This marked variance between the lessons taught by actual experiment and the inductions of philosophy is calculated to cast distributed to the soundness of the bases upon which the inductions depend for support. We design to expose some of the most material endocraphs. But it is not worth while for any one to be excited over the votes of such places. They are a EUROPFAN VIEW of AMERICAN INFLIGUAGE.

Louisville must feel great mortification and distress at hearing herself thus spoken of by one of her editors. It seems he has discovered, away off in Virginia, a city that is even "morse ductions of philosophy is calculated to cast discovery. He considers that it is worth no body's while to care a try for the votes of "such places" as Louisville and Rechmond. There is yet another way of proving that money is not a commod ye habby. Have the editor and the party dissolved their "mutual admiration society." Have the editor and the party dissolved their "mutual admiration society." The editor of the Somerset (Ky.) Demotures and in the arts, and therefore have an it is represented by A. It is a measure, not the nore-slaveholding States, the people of the South would dissolve the Union as a measure of standard of values. A standard is

If we represent this value by D. then we shall have the total value of com in this tou try represented by the sum of A plus B plus D-that is to say, the value of gold and ilver in the United States is increased over and above their value as a commodity in their unco ed state, by the addition of the values B and D.
What these values are we may show at another The last branch of our definition is, that one of the purposes to be effected by the machinery of money, is preserving the accumu-lations of labor of the present, for the use of succeeding generations. Labor is emiliedly perishable—in fact it would perish without leaving a trace, were it not that society has devised means of perpetuating its existence. Of all the agencies for this purpose, money—gold and silver money—is the most facile and efficient. If a man works a day without obtaining any useful result, or if he remain idle a day, the labor of that day is lost, irretrievably gone forever. If for a day's labor he receives corn, pota-toes, or any other article of consumption, the labor of that day perishes with the article he consumes. But if, in addition to what he needs for consumption, he receives an ounce of eiler coined into a dollar, that coin he may transmit to his posterity in all time come, and it will represent a day's labor or something near one. True that a house, a machine, or a mill may also be transmitted to posterity, but these things are more division like money. Such is the durability of gold and eilver coin, that, if used with care, a silver dollar produc. d to-day may be used to represent value ten centu, es hence. But its use is to preserve accumulations of labor. This must be so; for where there is no surplus, there cua be no accumulation to preserve. Thus if ind viduals or nations expend as much as they produce there will be no accumulation. Hence the | Kosk Vale, Kr., April, 1855.

RI IMOND, VA., GONE KNOW-NOTHING.—
Some editors who live in the woods are very much exorcised about the news that Richin 1d, the city of the old Democratic Commonwealth, had gone Know-Nothing. They are surprised and excited about it.
